TRUCKS COLLIDE ON SECOND STREET FRIDAY

A light delivery truck owned by Walter Bobbitt and the ash truck owned by Charlie Makin collided almost in front of The Journal office at about 1:30 p.m. last Friday.

Mr. Makin was backing on to the highway from the avenue between the Lonsbury and Penny residences. Bobbitt's truck driver had just started up from the Red & White store and failed to notice the truck backing out of the avenue. Luckily neither were driving fast. The big 6x6's on the ash truck tore into the delivery truck's fender, smashing it, as well as the light and the radiator. Only minor damage was done the engine. Damage is estimated at approximately $100.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Boulton sympathize with them in their hour of suspense.

Lions Drama Shield Won by Hillcrest Players

The local Lions' Club was grateful to the citizens of Coleman for their patronage.

A public meeting to discuss salvage work in Coleman will be held in the council chamber on Friday (tomorrow) night at 7 o'clock. Persons interested are asked to attend.

Compulsory Employment Order No. 1

Mr. F. J. Lote, local Selective Service manager, states that this order must be complied with immediately.

Once again Coleman's Miss Canadas will be on the streets and at the bank selling war saving stamps to the general public on Saturday. Persons who still have a few dollars left after the Fourth Victory Loan are asked to purchase war stamps from the girls.

Flood of Money Poured Into Headquarters on Last Day to Put Campaign "Over The Top"

Good News For Water Consumers

A discount of 20% has been in effect since March 1 and favorable operating conditions this Spring has enabled the company to see its way clear to give the consumers a further discount by cancelling June's water rates.

URGENT NEED FOR
AIRCREW APPLICANTS

There is an urgent need for aircrew applicants, and it is pointed out that students now taking high school or university may be enlisted and placed on leave of absence without pay until after school term closes, when they will be posted to manning depots and for training. Persons interested should contact Harold Houghton,

ALL STORES CLOSED
MONDAY, MAY 24

Coleman stores will close on Monday, May 24, and housewives are asked to take note of this fact. Since local merchants are adhering to an agreement drawn up some time ago regarding holidays it is expected that stores throughout the Pass will also be closed.

CADET OFFICERS TO GO TO CALGARY

Local Cadet Officers Harold Houghton, Percy Dickieson, Walter Purvis, Horace Allen and Ray Spillers will probably travel to Calgary this week end on business pertaining to air cadet work.

$14,000 remained to be collected on the last day of the campaign. It was a case of so near and yet so far. At noon on Saturday only a few subscriptions had trickled in. The outlook appeared black

Results of the campaign were then painted on the Loan headquarters' window. The publicity chairman had signs posted at each mine wash-house stating the goal was almost reached and with a little extra effort from a few the quota could be reached. Divisional Organizer Walker, Ken Ringland, Unit Organizer McBurney, Banker W. L. Rippon and all salesmen went into action for one last desperate attempt to get sufficient subscriptions to reach the quota.

Soon money started to appear "for the repurchase of bonds, pedestrians gathered in larger and larger numbers in front of loan companies and banks. As a result, the canvassers kept plugging away and the quota came ever closer; interest began to mount even higher, patriotic citizens reconsidered their first decision to buy only a small bond and came and purchased bonds ranging from $50 up to $200. Interest rose still higher, the quota was near and the heat was the topic of all conversation. As a result, there was a regular flood of money pouring into headquarters. Soon a shout was heard from Unit Organizer McBurney: "Hey, fellows, we've done it again, we've gone over the top!" Money, however, came in a steady stream and the quota was over-subscribed by approximately $6,900.

Coleman citizens made a creditable performance in reaching their quota set them by provincial authorities. The goal seemed impossible to attain at the start, but by continual plugging by all canvassers pointing out the benefits of bonds as an investment as a patriotic duty, as a means of placing war equipment in the hands of their husbands and sons, the goal was attained and Coleman today is as proud as a peacock at achieving the honor

Women And The War

IT HAS BEEN REPEATEDLY stated that this is a war in which civilians are in "the front line," no less than those in the armed forces. In the countries which have been bombed by the enemy, this has already been shown to be true. In Canada civilians have not been called upon so far to meet with the horrors of war in their own homes, but in all walks of life they have shown themselves ready to give full support to a gigantic war effort. The large numbers of men who have joined the armed services, and the way in which industry has geared itself to the production of war materials have all shown the readiness of the people of this Dominion to support to the utmost the cause of the United Nations. That women have taken a full share in all that has been done is well known to most of us, but some details concerning their part in Canada's war effort reveal that their contribution is greater than is perhaps generally realized.

Much Work Done By Volunteers

In the national registration, taken in August, 1940, 2,285,370 women in Canada were listed as housewives. While some of these women have since entered war industries, the majority are still in their homes and their service in maintaining the home life of the nation and in keeping up the morale of those who are in the fighting forces or in war industries is recognized to be very great. These women, too, form a vast army of volunteer workers who contribute greatly in providing comforts for those in the services and for their families. Members of women's patriotic organizations also organize the collection of salvage, work for the promotion of better nutrition and national health, place evacuees and refugees, assist in blood donor service, and in countless other ways meet and deal effectively with the human and social side of wartime problems. Several million dollars are raised every year in Canada for war services, and voluntarily women's organizations are instrumental in raising a large proportion of this money.

Men Released For Service

In 1942 it was estimated that there were 5,500 Canadian women wearing official uniforms of the armed services and 75,000 women working in munition plants. Since that time these numbers have increased. These women all release men for active service in the army, navy and air force, and their contribution to the advancement of Canada's war effort is great. A number of outstanding Canadian women are also serving in official capacities on the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and in large war industries. Canadian nurses have responded to the needs of their services in the war, and in the spring of 1942 there were 875 nursing sisters in the Army. Nursing services are also maintained in the Navy and the Air Force. It is clear that when the war is won, Canadian women may feel that they have contributed in no small way to the struggle upon which the future of the world depends.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA THE VIRTUES OF SIMPLICITY

In these days when everyone's time is so much occupied, and when minutes are precious, the housewife can reflect with pleasure that the simple meals she serves, the better they are for her family's health. The fact is that elaborate preparation of foods, especially of vegetables, causes the loss of much of their vitamin and mineral content.

Some of the menus used in the famous Boy's K Club experiment with noon meals, conducted in Toronto from February to March 1942, offer suggestions to mothers of school children. Here are three typical ones:

Baked Potatoes - Cheese	Baked Lima Beans	Toasted Cheese Sandwiches on Whole Wheat Bread
Wedges of Raw Cabbage	(dried) with Tomato Sauce
Tomato Juice
Buttered Whole Wheat Bread	Buttered Whole Wheat Bread	Raw Turnip Sticks
Cocoa	Milk	Milk
Cod Liver Oil	Cod Liver Oil	Cod Liver Oil

Simple aren't they? Yet each of these meals gave every boy all or nearly all of his day's requirements in the protective food elements, and more than 1/2 of his calorie needs for the day. All this at an average cost of less than 16 cents per meal! And before you say, "But they won't eat brown bread or raw vegetables," please remember that the thirty K club boys, who were just ordinary boys like any others, did eat them without protest and enjoyed them. You may have to do a sales job but it can be done because it has been done. And it's well worth doing.

A post card request to the Western Division Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, will bring you a free copy of its authoritative Vitamin Chart.

DELIGHTFUL DESSERT MAKES THE MENU PERFECT

Canada's Householders know that custards and blancmanges, quickly and easily made with pure, high quality Canada Corn Starch, are a delight with any luncheon or dinner menu.

At this time when Canadians are urged to "Eat Right to Feed Right," these delicious desserts will prove a welcome addition to the nutrition foods featured by the National Food for Fitness Campaign. Follow Canada's Food Rules for Health and Fitness.

Joining The Allies

French Fishermen Accept Invitation Broadcast From British Ships. The Nazis have threatened to stop French fishing boats from operating off the Atlantic coast near Gibraltar, because of the large number of crew desertions to the British, says the Washington Merry-Go-Round.

Wherever the French boats show up in this area, the British Navy sends out small, fast ocean-going cutters with loud-speakers. The cutters pull up a short distance away and soon the fishermen hear a rumbling voice announce:

"If any of you men want to join up with the Allies to fight those so-and-so's, jump in the water and start swimming. We will pick you up."

Sometimes the French boats have been left without a single man on board, so great has been the response to the invitation. Several times the Vichy Government sent a small warship along to protect the fishing boats, with instructions to fire on deserters.

However, this precaution did little good, because gunners on the escorting vessel deliberately shot over the heads of the swimming figures.

Biscuits And War Jobs

Soda Crackers Are Very High In Caloric Value

(By Molly O'Dale)

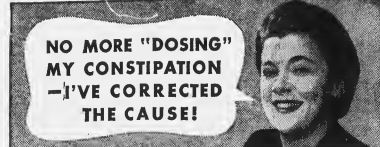

While our civilians on the home front are suffering hardships as a result of a war, a great upheaval has been caused in settled habits of living. At this very moment thousands of women who, in peacetime, would be engaged exclusively in their domestic duties, are now working in munition plants or devoting a lot of their time to civilian defence, Red Cross and other wartime activities.

This leaves them much less time for cooking. Meals have to be prepared in less time, so biscuits and crackers are in greater demand than ever before. The soda cracker, for instance, is a great time-saver, being a tasty and highly nutritious item of diet that needs no special preparation and goes well with soup, jam, marmalade, salads and so forth.

The remarkable thing about soda crackers is that they compress a lot of nutrition into a very small compass. This is due to the fact that they contain very little moisture. In a loaf of good bread for instance, moisture constitutes about 36% of its total weight, while there is less than 6% of moisture in a soda biscuit. This dehydration enables soda crackers to be kept without spoiling, and without any special storage facilities.

Christie's soda crackers are very high in caloric value, too—they give you 109 calories for one cent which is 92 calories more for the money than you get in beef steak which averages only 17 calories for a cent. So—it's no wonder that 84 homes out of a hundred use biscuits and crackers regularly.

Nazis have ordered farmers in Slovakia to cultivate rapeseed to be used for oil.

NO MORE "DOSING"
MY CONSTIPATION
—I'VE CORRECTED
THE CAUSE!

"Regularity" is important any time, but it's vitally important in these busy war days when all of us are working harder than ever. Don't you be "slowed down" by that common type of constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet. And be sensible... correct the trouble right at its source instead of "dosing" with harsh purgatives that give only temporary relief.

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN... grand-tasting as a cereal or in hot, crispy muffins... eat it every day... drink plenty of water... then see if you don't forget you ever had constipation. For ALL-BRAN supplies the "bulk" your diet needs... promotes natural regularity. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Victory Gardens

Pointers On Sowing Certain Vegetables In Succession

If your Victory Garden is to supply your family with fresh health-giving, vitamin-rich vegetables throughout the summer and early autumn, it should be planned to give an all-season yield.

Take radishes. The early ones are edible for about one week. Suppose you want a six weeks' supply. If you sowed all six weeks' at once you would have for one week many more radishes than you could use, and then no more.

There are only certain crops that require succession growing. Several plantings of carrots, beets and beans are advisable. Beans will give a long harvest if picked clean and not allowed to make seed. It is best never to let beans form in the pods. Use the pods when they are in the tenderest stage. Carrots and beans are still sweet, tender and nutritious when they are big in the fall, but they are still better when younger.

When making succession sowings, remember your second sowing will mature faster than the first because of the warmer weather. Your sowings should be sufficient for a definite period, so that there will be no wasteful over-production.

Kohlrabi, spinach, peas and radishes have particularly short harvests and successive plantings are necessary for continued supply.

When estimating the season's needs, imagine you are a market gardener with one customer, with whose buying habits you are familiar.

You can estimate your average gardening season and arrive at the number of vegetable dishes your family is likely to need, taking into account also your canning requirements. Of course, many Canadians take pleasure in providing apartment-house friends with fresh garden foods. Others send surplus production to charitable institutions, such as homes for dependent children. The point is to avoid waste. Food must not be wasted in wartime.

For further information to assist you with your Victory Garden write to the Federal or provincial department of agriculture.

Result Might Be Tragic

Inflammable Article In Parcel May Cause Fire At Sea

Fire at sea! This is the fear of all those "who go down to the sea in ships." If parcels containing inflammable substances are sent overseas this may be the tragic result.

Heat is generated in parts of ships' holds when the hatches are closed. Merchant ships are now armed, and when fire breaks out, the ammunition on board may cause a serious explosion.

Postal authorities point out that it is contrary to law to send matches, lighter fluid, or any inflammable substance through the mails. By doing this Canada's war effort may be impaired, and the lives of postal and railway employees, as well as the lives of those on ships, are endangered.

CANADA NEEDS GOOD CROPS TO ENSURE SAFETY MARGIN FOR FOOD PRODUCTION PROGRAMS

Ottawa.—The total supply of wheat and other grains is still large in Canada and the United States, but at the present rate of disappearance good crops will be needed this year to ensure a margin of safety for the food production programs contemplated for 1944, the Dominion bureau of statistics said.

In a review of the feed grain situation, the bureau said the growing population of livestock in North America was making huge inroads in the stock piles of grain in Canada and the United States.

It added that the current and prospective demand for livestock and live stock and poultry products was so heavy that the huge 1942 harvest in North America "now looks less impressive."

The bureau compared recommendations made at the Dominion-provincial agricultural conference in Ottawa last December for grain production with the annual survey of farmers' intentions to plant issued April 30.

It was recommended at the December conference that wheat acreage be further reduced and more essential war crops seeded on land taken out of wheat; that oats and barley acreage be increased approximately 12 per cent. over the 1942 figure and forage crops extended 17 per cent. in alfalfa and eight per cent. in hay and clover.

The April 30 survey indicated an increase of 13 per cent. in oats acreage and 16 per cent. in barley acreage, it showed the indicated acreage for wheat was 79 per cent. of the 1942 level, a reduction of 4,500,000 acres. Oats were scheduled to occupy 1,700,000 acres of the soil thus made available, barley and flax each slightly more than 1,000,000 acres each, and the balance was expected to go into forage and other crops, including mixed grains and soybean.

NEW AIR BASE

It Has Been Built In Labrador At A Cost Of $15,000,000

Goose Airport, Labrador.—This great new Canadian air base, stepping-stone of Europe, has been carved in a year and a half from scrubby timberland at the head of Hamilton Inlet, its cost estimated unofficially at $15,000,000.

The biggest bombers land and take off on its 6,000-foot concrete runways. Veteran pilots prefer it to the longer-established Newfoundland airfields as a starting point for trans-Atlantic flights.

SHIP-BUILDING PLAN CALLS FOR A LARGE GOVERNMENT-OWNED MERCHANT FLEET FOR CANADA

Ottawa.—Canada has in sight a government-owned merchant fleet of some 200 cargo ships if the present ship-building program is carried out. Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons.

The present policy is to continue building slower ships which are more economical for war transport service but plans are being studied to convert some of the present ship-building capacity to faster ships after the war.

The minister made his statement on the mutual aid bill in answer to questions from Howard Green (Prog. Con., Vancouver South). He said while some 70 to 75 Canadian-built ships have been sold to the United States to obtain United States dollars, the exchange situation now had been eased, and he hoped it would not be necessary to sell more. Canada retained the ownership of ships placed at the disposal of the United Kingdom under mutual aid.

The government, said Mr. Howe, is retaining all the ships which can be manned but there is a shortage of crews which cannot be fully met by the merchant training schools.

With sales to the United States stopped the remainder of the ships would be retained either to be manned by Canadian crews and operated for Canada or chartered to the United Kingdom. Ships so chartered would be reclaimed after the war when it was hoped they could be manned with officers and sailors from the Canadian navy.

"We expect therefore, that the gov-

HAVE SAME GOAL

Finance Plans Of Britain And United States Are Similar

London.—Sir Kingsley Wood told the House of Commons that British and United States international currency proposals have the same goal—the stabilization of international exchange and raising of living standards in all countries after the war.

Opening debate on Lord Keynes' currency stabilization proposal, the chancellor of the exchequer said the United States plan for an international fund to stabilize currencies approached the problem from a somewhat different slant.

American financial experts displayed considerable technical interest in the Keynes plan after discussing it informally with British experts, Sir Kingsley said.

Britain, he said, would not view criticism of the Keynes plan as "derogatory of international prestige."

The Keynes plan, he said, would fix the exchange values by agreement, and while it did not rule out gold as an exchange medium, British authorities did not think the trading position of any country should be determined by the size of its gold stocks.

MORALE IS HIGH

Canadian Forces Overseas Are Anxious To Get Into Fight

Edmonton.—Canadian forces in the British Isles are high in morale and anxious to get into the fight and "finish the job," Major John Steele, Salvation Army auxiliary officer, said in an interview. He has just arrived here after spending two and a half years overseas.

He mentioned particularly soldiers of the Canadian Forestry Corps working in the lumber camps of Scotland producing many thousands of feet of lumber for use in the British Isles and said they were "doing a magnificent job."

Major Steele has returned to Canada in an exchange of officers and has been appointed supervisor of war services for the Salvation Army in Canada.

WHEAT DELIVERY QUOTA HAS BEEN RAISED FROM FOURTEEN TO FIFTEEN BUSHELS AN ACRE

Ottawa.—Trade Minister MacKinnon announced in the House of Commons that the maximum wheat delivery quota is being raised from 14 bushels to 15 bushels an authorized acre "as quickly as elevator space permits."

"About 800 points can be increased to 15 bushels almost immediately," the minister said. "... The extra bushel is considered necessary to bring the permitted deliveries up to 280,000,000 bushels, as provided in order-in-council P.C. 10,000, of Nov. 6, 1942."

Mr. MacKinnon also announced that the quota restriction of oats has been made "open" at some 57 points, mostly in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

No radical changes have been made in the quotas for either barley or rye," he said.

The authorized acreage for wheat delivery purposes in the west during the current crop year, which began last Aug. 1, is slightly over 19,000,000 acres, but many farmers will not be able to deliver 15 bushels an authorized acre "because of hail, drought, frost, etc., unusually heavy farm feeding of wheat, or because of seeding in 1942 much less than the authorized acreage for delivery purposes."

Deliveries of Durum wheat, deliveries in excess of quota permitted to certain enlisted persons, and certain family gristing deliveries are over and above the total delivery figure of 280,000,000 bushels.

"The authorized wheat acreage for delivery purposes in 1943-44 will be closer to 20,000,000 acres than to 19,000,000 acres, mainly because there are about 700,000 authorized acres on farms which seeded no wheat in 1942-43," said Mr. MacKinnon. "This acreage was ineffective for delivery purposes in 1942-43 but some of it will be effective in 1943-44."

"The western farmers will begin the 1943-44 season with 200,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels of wheat on farms, whereas they had practically none to start the 1942-43 season."

Commander-in-Chief

Rear-Admiral L. W. Murray, R.C.N., who has been appointed commander-in-chief, Canadian North West Atlantic, becomes the first Canadian commander-in-chief in world war II to assume the operational direction of a vital war area. Well schooled in anti-submarine operations, Admiral Murray knows, from personal experience in this war and last, the battle of the Atlantic.

With an ordinary 1943 crop, the authorized wheat acreage will therefore be more effective in 1943-44 than in 1942-43 and a 14-bushel quota should bring out as much wheat in 1943-44 as a 15-bushel quota will in 1942-43.

Trade department officials said that at present 68 per cent. of delivery points at May 8 were on a 14-bushel quota, 17 per cent. on a 12-bushel quota and 15 per cent. on a 10-bushel quota.

Twenty-seven per cent. of oats delivery points now are on "open" or unrestricted quota, 42 per cent. on a 30-bushel quota and 31 per cent. on a 20-bushel quota.

The delivery quotas on barley and rye are 20 bushels an acre, all over the west.

RESISTANCE IS ON INCREASE IN LOW COUNTRIES AS SIGNS POINT TO AN EARLY INVASION

London.—Rioting in Berlin among anxious relatives of German soldiers killed, wounded or captured in the concluded Tunisian fighting and spreading violence in The Netherlands and Belgium against occupation forces has been reported.

The attacks on military establishments in the low countries and the reported movement of German troops into Belgium and Holland were taken as signs that an Allied invasion of the continent may be imminent.

The Netherlands news agency Aneta reported that Radio Orange, the Dutch station in London, had warned Holland's population that the Germans are trying to provoke a premature revolt.

The broadcast charged that the Germans are distributing forged calls to rebellion to provoke the Dutch people to violence, and added:

"Resistance is only good if it is carried out in concert. Do not be provoked."

The report of riots in Berlin was carried in a Reuters news agency despatch from Stockholm which was based on an account published in the Göteborg (Swedish) Handelsbladet.

S.S. Elite guard troops were said to have broken up the riot without resort to arms.

The Reuters despatch said similar incidents were reported from other parts of Germany.

From the Low Countries to the Balkans rising patriot bands were reported concentrating and increasing attacks on vital rail arteries for Axis troops and supplies on a scale strongly suggesting that the underground war now emerging is guided by central orders to help clear the way from within for invasion of Europe.

The newest attacks, forcing the Nazis to arm and guard almost all trains, were reported spreading to Belgium from Holland, where two weeks of martial law and at least 43 executions have failed to restore order.

A Russian domestic broadcast recorded by the United States government's foreign broadcast intelligence service said mass strikes of Netherlands workers are taking place in many large cities of Holland in protest against the recent Nazi order that all former Netherlands soldiers must go to concentration camps.

Increasing resentment in Norway against forced labor on defence works has reached the breaking point, the Stockholm radio said in a broadcast also recorded by United States government monitors, and "passive" resistance is turning into "active counter measures."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Coleman Tops Its Loan Objective

Coleman, along with 114 other units throughout Alberta, raised its quota of $125,000 with a few thousands of dollars to spare. It was a magnificent achievement and one which the majority of the citizens can feel justly proud.

By overachieving the Dominion objective of $1100 million Canadians have once again shown their determination to get on with this war and see it through to a victorious end. The striking power of the Allied Nations is now being felt in more powerful and paralyzing blows throughout Hitler's Europe, with Italy on the verge of complete collapse as the Allies for invasion of Mussolini's homeland. Money subscribed by Canadian bondholders will help make the Axis defeat a certainty.

Local Youths Graduate at Alberta University

Tuesday was graduation day at the Alberta University. Receiving their degrees were Miss Florence McDonald, Jerry McIntyre, Wilfred Hoyle and Ian Smith. Coleman can well be proud of them. In their graduation tribute can be given local educational facilities which formed the basis for their higher education, the parents for investing several thousands of dollars in the future of their daughter and sons, and to the graduates who studied hard to earn their degree and secure for themselves a profession of their own choosing.

Perhaps the greatest honor should be given the parents. It takes money to put a son or daughter through University. At times sacrifices have to be made at home in order to maintain the son at University. However these sacrifices pale into insignificance when they see their son proudly step forth and receive his degree from the University.

They can feel in their hearts that they have done their duty by him, given him a good home from childhood to manhood and an education that should give him a smoother road through life than they may have had. Yes, they have every reason to be proud of themselves.

Unlighted Bicycles On Highway A Menace To Motorists

Now that the evenings are lengthening and the weather becomes more pleasant cyclists are to be seen in ever increasing numbers on the highways and especially between Coleman and Blairmore. It is a pleasant and healthful pastime. After dark however they become a danger to motorists as very few bicycles possess lights or reflectors. A motorist is almost upon them before he notices them and with an ever increasing number of lady drivers, many of them new drivers, cyclists are helping protect themselves by placing lights and reflectors on their machines.

This point from Italy, loomed high above his head. In M. Dunant's day the barrier had not yet been pierced by a railroad tunnel, and stage coaches as well as merchant wagons had to go over the lofty Simplon Pass. Finally he reached Italy.

By this time Henri knew exactly what he was going to say to King Alexander. But once arrived in Italy an unexpected difficulty arose. Sardinia and her ally, France were at war with Austria. Henri learned that Alexander was at the front, directing operations at Solferino.

For a moment the young Swiss banker was daunted—but only for a moment. He drove to Solferino, where he arrived on the day that the battle was over, and asked to be taken to the King's headquarters. The way led across the battlefield, strewn thick with the dead and wounded.

This was an unexpected note of tragedy thrusting itself between the young Swiss and his plans for a business deal. Men were feebly calling for water, or trying to bind up their ghastly wounds. Others were trying to drag themselves to the aid of more badly wounded comrades. There were no nurses, no orderlies, no one to take care of the suffering wounded or to carry off the dead.

Appalled at the horror he saw around him, Henri Dunant lost all thought of his business and his urgent desire to see the King. He carried water to the wounded, helped to bind up their wounds, and pressed into service anyone he could find. Alleviation of suffering washed every other thought out of his mind. From that moment, in the middle of that battlefield, Henri Dunant determined to devote his life to this new cause.

On his return to Switzerland, he quickly got together a group of influential people who gathered the funds necessary to carry on this work of mercy. This society was at first called by another name. But in 1864, at the Convention of Geneva, the present name of the Red Cross was chosen. In honor of the founder, Henri Dunant, the Convention decided that the emblem should be the flag of his own country with the colors reversed. No bond, therefore, could be closer than the one between the International Red Cross and Switzerland.

It is curious how failure in one direction often leads to success in another. Dunant failed to meet King Alexander, but this failure led to the founding of one of humanity's greatest successes.

Around The Town

Following a long spell of snow, sleet and rain it is a pleasure to rise these fine mornings and see the sun's rays streaming through one's bedroom window. You can't beat springtime in the mountains when the sun shines and the mountains stand in bold relief against a blue sky.

Sunday morning was a wonderful spring morning and added zest was given it by the playing of trumpets by the Coleman and Bellevue Air Cadet units, who along with the Girl Guides and Brownies marched to the United and Holy Ghost churches for church service.

Coming down town that same morning, one could listen with enjoyment to the two Salvation Army officers singing to the patients at the local hospital, Lieut. Nahmyer playing the piano accompaniment.

Still another business has closed down due to the war. The thriving little business known as West End Market, owned by Rezac and Salus, was forced to close when Mr. Salus received his army call and ill health forced Mr. Rezac to seek medical treatment.

It is laughable at the debates started since Labor Minister Mitchell brought down his new coal policy in the House of Commons Tuesday. Discussions range around the point "Will so and so have to come back from the coast?"

Dick Shone, aided by several youngsters, has one of the tennis courts about ready for play. The second court will be put into shape as soon as possible.

Regret has been expressed from all quarters at the news that Fos Boulton was missing in action. Fos is certainly a popular favorite with all. It is believed that the C.P.R.'s gift plane to the R.C.A.F. was the machine being flown by Fos when he disappeared.

Since this war is over and the manpower shortage comes back to normal the sidewalks, especially on the block close by the Coleman Hardware, will have to be given much needed attention. The concrete is breaking up in some spots and sinking in others.

The Churches

St. Paul's United Church, Coleman Sunday, May 23

Minister: J. E. Kirk
11 a.m. church worship. Mr. Shervell, of Bellevue, will be the visiting preacher.

Dedication of Church Honor Rolls Sunday, May 16, at 11 a.m., the church honor rolls of St. Paul's United Church were dedicated at a special Dedication service. A special order of service was prepared for the occasion, and the Air Cadets, Girl Guides and Brownies attended and presented their flags at the opening of the service. The Legion very kindly loaned flags for the service.

The family donated flowers in memory of Fernie Dickson, who was the only casualty on the Roll of Honour. Mrs. Thomas brought lovely roses sent to her by her son Harry.

CORRECTION
An error was made in one of the announcements at church on Sunday morning. It was stated that Miss Elizabeth Beveridge had donated flowers in memory of her nephew, Fernie Dickson. The flowers should have been credited to The Family.

Miss Brownie Devine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Devine, and nurse-in-training at a Vancouver hospital, and Miss Mary Panek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Panek, also a nurse-in-training, received their caps last week at the hospital, thus ending their three months probationary period. Attending the ceremony were Mrs. Tom McGregor and Mrs. A. Walker.

THEATRE NOTES

The two top-ranking comedians in America, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, come to the Palace this week end in "Pardon My Sarong." It is a comedy that surpasses all their previous hits and one is guaranteed a good night's entertainment. Supporting the main picture is a March of Time film entitled "Prelude to Victory." It shows the preparations made by the American leaders for the attack on the African continent and also the attack on Algeria. In addition there is an up-to-the-minute news reel, showing a number of the war's fronts.

This week end at Cole's, Bellevue, that grand actress, Barbara Stanwyck, supported by George Brent, will be seen in "The Gay Sisters." It is a dramatic and engrossing story which all should enjoy. In addition there will be a News of The Day feature, along with a comedy.

The Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, states: "we of this Department fully endorse the encouragement of back-yard and community gardens in 1943, and have already communicated with provincial departments of agriculture suggesting that encouragement be given to such projects this year."

Provincial Departments of Agriculture, Education and Health have expressed their endorsement of this campaign.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Sirs: Received both parcels of cigarettes on same day. Many thanks, appreciate them ever so much. In fact, I look forward to the day when your parcel is due and am very disappointed if late or lost. . . . L-Opl. Panek.

Dear Sirs: Thanks a lot for the cigs, and you can tell the Legion members that they are really appreciated. . . . W. Anderson.

Dear Friends: Received smokes last week, and thanks a lot. Had a very mild winter, but it is rather cold at the present. Best regards to the boys and best wishes. . . . Geo. Burchell.

Dear Friends: Just received two lots of your most welcome cigarettes, for which many thanks. Have had a lot of air activity here lately and gone through several eventful experiences. Failed to meet any Coleman boys for some time. I have just completed a week's leave in Scotland and England and had a wonderful time. . . . J. J. Sikora.

Dear Friends: Many thanks for the cigs just received. My name was on the list about a month ago as having cigs lost through enemy action so I was sure pleased to receive these. I got 600 in all so am sending both cards today. How is everyone back in Coleman? I am fine, but longing to get this war over and come back home again. The weather is grand over here now and everything is in bloom. My brother from Calgary has just recently arrived over here and at present time is very close to me so I have been busy showing him the sights. I am going to Manchester on my next 7-day leave. —Archie Wrugg.

Dear Sirs: Received another 300 cigs from the Legion and wish to express my sincere thanks. Just got back from a leave which I spent in Scotland. Met Mr. and Mrs. George Reid this time and spent two days with them on their farm. Alex. Chalmers is going up that way next week for his leave.—Dave Neva.

Dear Comrades: Many thanks once again for the cigs. There is no need to tell you they are the most welcome things we get from home and run letters a close second for popularity. Thanks to all who make these gifts possible. —Bert Murray.

Dear Sirs: Thanking you for the ever welcome gift of cigarettes. —Jim Kroesing.

Just a line thanking you for the cigs. I do appreciate them very much and I do hope that this card repays you for your troubles.—A. Haluck.

Dear Friends: Received your most welcome tobacco and it sure comes in handy. Met Bill Ferby, he had just arrived and was looking very well. Well, keep up the good work as it is sure appreciated. —Frank Kilgannon.

Dear Friends: Just a card to inform you that myself, Bill Nimcan and Joe Zak have arrived in Britain. Hoping this card reaches you. I have met Leonard Hoyle and had quite a long chat. Greetings to all. . . . Pte. H. F. Hirsch.

WEDDINGS

HOYLE-ALLAN
Mr. and Mrs. James Allan announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Wilfred, second son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hoyle, at Edmonton, by Rev. D. Tuttle on Monday, May 10.

RAYMOND-MARGETAK
A marriage of interest took place at St. Anne's church, Blairmore, recently when Anne, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Margetak of Blairmore, became the bride of Wilbert, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Raymond, of Coleman. Rev. Dean M. A. Harrington performed the ceremony.

BOWEN-MCDONALD
The marriage took place in the United church at Fincher Creek on July 12, 1942, of Jean, daughter of Mrs. J. A. McDonald and the late Mr. McDonald, of Blairmore, to Robert Earl, only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Bowen, of Coleman. Rev. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, officiating. Mr. Bowen is now serving overseas with the R. E. C. A. P., having arrived in Britain about a month ago, while Mrs. Bowen resides in Blairmore.

DeMARTIN-VENDRASCO
The marriage of Enes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vendrasco, of Blairmore, to Dino, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. DeMartin, of Coleman, took place at the Catholic church rectory on Saturday morning, Rev. Father L. Sullivan officiating.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a pale blue dressmaker suit, with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Val-DeMartin, who wore a two-piece bunny wool suit, with beige accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. M. Pagnuco, of Blairmore.
A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where relatives and intimate friends wished the happy couple health and happiness. Mr. and Mrs. DeMartin will leave today for Windsor, Ont., where the groom is employed by the Canadian Bridge Co. of Canada.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. J. Colombo on Wednesday, May 5, in honor of Miss Enes Vendrasco, bride-elect. Four tables of whist were played, with prizes being won by Mrs. C. Roggiani, Mrs. W. Kosma and Mrs. L. Salvador.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. Colombo, Mrs. C. Roggiani and Mrs. J. Rinaldi. The guest-of-honor was presented with a chest of flat silverware, for which she ably thanked the assembled guests.

EMERGENCY AND DISASTER RELIEF

SURVEY OF AVAILABLE ACCOMMODATION

We Would like to advise our Branches that one of the important By-Laws of the Society is to organize and maintain an emergency service to render immediate assistance to any occurrence, disaster or epidemic that affects more persons than can be adequately assisted by the Municipal authorities or by other established relief agencies. Since 1920 the Canadian Red Cross Society has been repeatedly called upon to render aid in emergencies and disasters in Canada, both from a National standpoint as well as from a Provincial or Municipal standpoint.

In order that we may have information on file in the Division as to how many people could be accommodated in hotels, private homes, or available institutions in their community temporarily should there be the need at any time in the future for the evacuation of a great portion of the civil population either from another Province to this Province or from one part of this Province to another, we would greatly appreciate receiving information from your Branch as to what accommodation, both temporary and permanent, would be available in your Community.

The importance of having this information will be appreciated because as already published in the press, all are aware that there is a possibility of attack on the west coast which may result in the evacuation of a great portion of the civil population from British Columbia to the Prairie Provinces, and it is logical to suppose that the Prairie Provinces will be asked to arrange for temporary shelter should the emergency arise.

It must be understood that our Branches would not be expected to bear the financial responsibility of such shelter, excepting in so far as local citizens in any community would be willing to bear that responsibility in regard to billeting in their own homes.

We hope that your Branch, on receipt of this Circular, will make a quiet survey of your city, town or district and that you will advise the Division at the earliest possible date the number of people who could be accommodated.

Yours faithfully,
W. H. Tomlinson
Commissioner,
Alberta Division, C.R.C.S.

WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCTION

Farmers of the Prairie Provinces, including the Peace River and Creston areas of British Columbia, who desire to divert wheat acreage to the production of any other crops or to summerfallow in 1943, may claim payment for doing so.

Payment of $2.00 may be made for each acre by which the wheat seeded on any farm in 1943 is below that seeded on such farm in 1940. If there was no wheat on a farm in 1940 but there was wheat in 1939, the 1939 acreages may be used instead of those of 1940. Any crops or summerfallow may be substituted for wheat, but payment will not be made on abandoned lands.

Payment on any farm is limited to an acreage not greater than 80% of the total cultivated acreage of such farm.

To obtain payment farmers must make a sworn statement of claim immediately seeding is completed. They should plan to do so NOT LATER THAN JUNE 30th.

Any farmer who did not apply for Wheat Acreage Reduction payment in either 1941 or 1942 and intends to do so in 1943 must notify his municipality of his intention before May 31, and then make his claim after seeding.

Forms are available in the offices of the municipalities or direct from offices of the Wheat Acreage Reduction Administration in Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton.

Statements of claim may be submitted to Municipal Offices or to Offices especially arranged to receive them in localities not served by municipalities. Delay in making claims should be avoided; they may be filed immediately seeding is completed. Persons having interests in farms as landlords may submit applications at once.

Lake Steamers Busy Carrying Grain

The big lake steamer, "Mathewston," of Colonial Steamships Ltd., carried the fourth Victory Loan slogan in big white letters on her hull, when she loaded grain at Fort William as navigation got away to a late start on the Great Lakes after one of the longest, coldest winters on record. Ships like the "Mathewston," and smaller ones painted battleship grey and mounting deck guns for the trans-Atlantic run, are busy at Canada's lakehead ports these days, loading foodstuffs. A fleet of 17 ships loaded with 6,554,000 bushels of grain, and four loaded with 8,850 tons of flour wintered at the lakehead and were first to head south, making way for an incoming fleet of steamers to clean up the balance of the ports' 142,000,000-bushel storage capacity.

Non-Essential Travel

Besides Being Very Uncomfortable It Is Not Patriotic

Until the war-created emergency is over there is no place for non-essential travel on the various transportation systems in Canada. The railroads are handicapped by a shortage of equipment, as are buses. All available equipment, therefore, must be left free for the movement of munitions and service personnel.

It has become patriotic, and a good deal more comfortable, to stay at home rather than to go on a trip. Sitting room is not assured in railway coaches, chair cars and diners are not available on many trains, and altogether travelling during wartime is anything but pleasant.

Aside from the inconvenience, travelling costs more these days with heavy taxes on, and with week-end and other special rates off. This may not make a difference to some people, but it does make a difference to know that unnecessary travel does its bit to hinder the war program.

Montreal Nurse Enjoyed Life There While On Military Service

A Montreal nurse, Slater Janet Dunn, back from military service in South Africa, gives an interesting account of her adventures and experiences. Along with the 49 other Canadians who joined the South African Army Medical Service nearly two years ago, she was at first stationed at Pietermaritzburg, 40 miles from Durban. She was transferred to Johannesburg, where she cared for casualties from North Africa. There is plenty of food and no rationing in Johannesburg, says Miss Dunn, but there is a shortage of goods, and prices are high. Stockings are scarce and there is a lack in abundance. She says that South Africans drink tea steadily from six in the morning until bedtime. A link with Canada is the prevalence of squash and pumpkin on menus. Her one regret is that she was absent the day the Canadian nurses were presented to Field Marshal Smuts.

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON WINE'S DECEITFULNESS

Golden text: At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder. Proverbs 23:32.
Lesson: Proverbs 20:1; 23:29-35; Matthew 24:45-51.
Devotional reading: Galatians 6:7-10.

Explanations and Comments

What the Wise Man Knew about Wine, Proverbs 20:1.

What Wine Drinking Does, Proverbs 23:29-35. By a series of questions verses 29 and 30 give us a vivid picture of a drunkard. "Who hath Oh! Who hath Alas!" the Hebrew literally reads, for the words translated "woe" and "sorrow," we are told, are interjections rather than names. "Who hath complaining?" "Who hath wounds without cause?" "Who hath redness of eyes?" "Blearing eyes are one of the conspicuous signs of a drunkard."

The speaker then answers his own questions: "They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek out mixed wine." By "mixed wine" may be meant wine mixed with spices or with opiates. "There is a touch of sarcasm in the answer; the verb elsewhere used of diligent search after knowledge is here used, as if ironically, of the investigations of connoisseurs in wine, meeting to test its qualities" (Plumptre).

The writer now counsels everyone to keep away from temptation: "Look not upon the wine when it is red," "Critics judge wine, among other indications, by the color of it; some wine, they say, looks so well that it even says, 'Come and drink me.'" (Matthew Henry). "When it sparkleth in the cup, literally, 'when it gives us gleam, or eye, to the cup,' that is, when it is full of life" (Toy). Nor when it "goeth down smoothly": see the Song of Solomon, 7:3. The wine which fascinate like a serpent is also as poisonous as a serpent: "at the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."

It is seemingly detrium tremens which the next verses describe. "Thine eyes shall behold strange things, and thy heart shall utter perverse things"—things contrary to reason, religion, and common civility, which one would be ashamed to speak of sober.

"Thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a mast." "Dunk stupefies and besots men. Their heads are giddy, their heads swim, and when they lie down in sleep they are as if they were tossed by the rolling waves of the sea, upon the top of a mast." (Matthew Henry).

Not High Enough

American Lady Just Thought She Saw Africa From Air

An American lady, in a night over Brazil at 20,000 feet, declared she saw Africa, 1,822 miles away. She may have thought she did, but her statement has brought out the mathematicians, square-rooting the altitude and giving the exact distance one can see, after allowing for the curvature of the earth. The Minneapolis Journal produces a table which is said to be approximately correct:

At 1,000 feet you can see 39 miles.
At 2,000 feet: 55 miles
At 3,000 feet: 62 miles
At 4,000 feet: 77 miles
At 5,000 feet: 82 miles
At 10,000 feet: 123 miles
At 15,000 feet: 150 miles
At 20,000 feet: 173 miles
At 25,000 feet: 194 miles
Such is the visibility on a clear day with powerful binoculars. And the table must be important for the almon hunting down U-boats in the Atlantic. What about night visibility? When fliers have returned and told of seeing fires in German cities 100 miles away their reports have been trustworthy, as a mere matter of mathematics. At 20,000 feet, a big fire would be visible easily at 170 miles. But the American lady in Brazil would have had to be 38 1/2 miles in the air to have seen Africa in day time.—St. Catharines Standard.

CHAPTER III

MORGAN'S room was on the fifth floor. In keeping with his apparent intention of taking a nap, the American had to let the elevator operator see him return to his room. But as soon as the coast was clear, Morgan was climbing the stairway to the sixth floor. Verde would be busy for some time developing the fingerprints on the switched glass, and this would be an excellent opportunity to search the little man's baggage.

Not even the owners of the Casa Grande knew that one of the guests carried keys that could open any door from top to bottom of the edifice. Those keys had been obtained for Morgan by Capt. Rojas of the Buenos Aires Police Department, the only man in the city who knew why Chris Morgan had come to Argentina.

Morgan had searched Verde's room three days before, when it had been occupied by a Chilean couple since checked out, and it required very little time to go over the room once again. There was nothing but a small suitcase, support to Verde's claim that he was in Buenos Aires only for a short visit. There was a letter, however, that established him as a cattleman, owner of a ranch near Santa Rosa.

The American descended to the fourth floor. The rooms of Guillermo and Col. Velasquez, in one of which he must have left the fingerprint that had aroused suspicion, he was anxious to examine again.

COURSE, Guillermo's presence in the dining room might have been chance. The musician was something of a recluse, seldom speaking to anyone, he had exchanged words with Verde in the company of the cattleman. Nor, for that matter, had Col. Miguel Velasquez y Cuyas, Morgan hoped this time to find out if and would not prove to be Velasquez. In spite of their exchange of brusque words, the American liked the looks of the erect, dark-eyed soldier.

To enter the room of Col. Velasquez was out of the question for some hours at least. Morgan had seen the Argentinian army officer in the lobby, had seen him enter the elevator. Perhaps, if Velasquez should dine this evening with that sleek-eared beauty, Roa, he could have observed the couple together on several occasions—the American would be able to steal undisturbed into the soldier's quarters.

Was Guillermo in his suite? If Don Felix was helping Verde photograph the fingerprints, the operation might be taking place in the room of the bespectacled musician. Morgan tapped on the door and listened, prepared to dart down the corridor toward the stairway if he heard any sound within.

But his knock produced only silence. Morgan inserted a key in the lock, opened the door and stole into the room. As he closed the door he heard a sort of shout or cry from the hall as though someone had sighted him. The sound of rapid footsteps strengthened the idea, but the footfalls went past the door, rounded the corner of the passage and hurried on.

Morgan approached a desk set close to the double-windowed wall of the room. It must have been on that polished surface that he had left the imprint of a thumb or finger. He would have to be more careful this time. He draped a handkerchief over his hand before he touched the handle of the topmost drawer.

HE LIFTED a handful of papers and spread them on the desk, and at where, obviously, Colonel Velasquez had been seated when stabbed.

There was a second chair, pushed back slightly, and on the table was a siphon and a bottle of whisky. What must have been Velasquez's glass was lying on its side as though knocked over when the soldier had received his death blow. But there was another glass, so familiar that a slight shock coursed through Chris Morgan.

The second glass was half-filled, and faintly dull as though it had been cleaned with a greasy rag—the same glass, apparently, into which Morgan had poured his own unfinished drink.

Morgan's eyes roved over the room. On a divan Rosita Velasquez was being comforted by an elderly woman; the doctor had joined the group about Captain Rojas; but Senior Raymond Verde was conspicuous by his absence. Felix Guillermo, his face expressionless, was watching Morgan.

The American's gaze returned to the table. He had guessed wrong concerning the reason Verde and De Nova had desired his fingerprints. That glass had been placed in his room as evidence that Morgan was the killer of Velasquez.

Had the plot been built up since Morgan had hung out to Velasquez and knocked Roa off her feet?

Capt. Rojas touched Morgan's arm. "Is this the man who was with Col. Velasquez?" he inquired of the elevator boy.

The youth hesitated and studied the American most carefully. "I would not say, Senior el Capitán," he said. "He is tall, as was the man I saw, with the same brown hair and gray eyes, but—"

"It was he—it was Senior Morgan." The sleek-faced De Nova was less reluctant to give positive identification. "We happened to be short-handed downstairs this afternoon and it was I, who am interested only in the welfare of my guests, who carried into this room the liquor, soda and glasses ordered by the colonel. The colonel's guest was standing at the window. His back was turned as though he did not wish me to see his face. But I am certain the man was Senior Morgan."

Next Chapter: Morgan wins the first round but is taken by surprise in the second.

R.C.A.F. Command

Wing Commander Mitchell, Of Winnipeg, Transfers To Yorkton Training School

Winnipeg (R.C.A.F. News Service).—Wing Commander E. M. Mitchell, officer in charge of flying training at headquarters of No. 2 Training Command, Royal Canadian Air Force, Winnipeg, for more than a year, has relinquished this post to become commanding officer of No. 11 Service Flying Training School at Yorkton, Saskatchewan. The new officer in charge of flying training, Command Headquarters is Squadron Leader H. H. Langford, who was posted here from instructional duties at Central Flying School, Trenton.

A permanent force officer, Wing Commander Mitchell calls Wolfville, N.S., his home town. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell reside there. Educated at Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., and Nova Scotia Technical College, he joined the R.C.A.F. in July, 1935. A pilot by trade, he has had wide experience in instructional duties at Trenton and Camp Borden. Before he was posted to Headquarters No. 2 Training Command as officer in charge of flying training in February, 1942, he was chief instructor at No. 9 Service Flying Training School, Summerside, Prince Edward Island.

Squadron Leader Langford, also a pilot by trade, has had varied experience in instructional flying duties, serving at Trenton and Camp Borden. In 1942 he attended the Empire Central Flying School in the United Kingdom. He came here from Trenton to take over his new post. His home-town is Barrie, Ontario, and his mother, Ms. A. J. Langford lives in Port Stanley, Ontario. Squadron Leader Langford graduated from Queen's University, Kingston in 1935. He was associated with the Ontario Department of Education as a school inspector in civilian life; was vice-principal of King Edward School, Peterborough, Ontario, and principal of Victoria School, Kingston, Ontario. Between 1928 and 1932 he flew as a bush pilot for General Airways in Northern Ontario and Quebec.

Don Felix lowered his own pistol and stepped back, relinquishing the situation to the proper authorities. Capt. Rojas eyed Morgan, and was unable to conceal his bewilderment. "But—Don Felix!" This is Senior Morgan, the American—

Guillermo smiled coldly, and the grimace gave his parchment-light face a satanic cast. Then why did he hide in my room?"

Morgan glanced at the musician. Guillermo had not mentioned that he had captured a prisoner, the desk clerk informed me that it must be the killer of Col. Velasquez and asked that I hold you."

Again Guillermo gestured with his shoulders. "I am not accusing you, senior. As soon as I mentioned that I had captured a prisoner, the desk clerk informed me that it must be the killer of Col. Velasquez and asked that I hold you."

At one side of the room was a police officer questioning Senior De Nova and the youth who ran the elevator. Captain Rojas immediately joined his colleague. Morgan noted all this subconsciously, for his attention was focused on the table

Sweeping The Streets

London Women Have Taken Over This Job And Like It

In wartime Britain women do everything from shipbuilding to street sweeping. As you watch them sometimes at laborious, crude work, you wonder how they feel about it.

In Soho, peace-time home of quaint foreign restaurants and European shops, plump Florence Sharp was discovered plying her trade as street sweeper. She was induced to go before the microphone and tell how she felt to be a woman working at what one time was essentially a man's business.

In her narrative she told how she "liked road sweeping better than anything else" she ever had done before her husband was killed during an air raid.

It also developed within her a homely philosophy. She notices things about people and life that she has never realized before. "You see life on this job," she said thoughtfully. "You really do. You see how people are happy and you see how they are sad and miserable. You see everything that's going on in life."
